FEEL THE HEAT OF TUNA BATTLE!!!

Tsugaru Strait is a serious fishery: it's a battlefield where humans and huge tuna face off! A genius tuna fisherman once said, "I do everything I can do," when fishing for the ocean's natural gift, tuna. Schools of tuna fill this fast, wavy fishery and hundreds of boats gather to fish for those shimmering, black ocean diamonds. Normally, only local fisherman can get on the boat so this is a very valuable tour that lets you feel what it's like to fish in Tsugaru Strait. With any luck, you'll feel the heat of the tuna battle up close and personal.

POLE FISHING

This is a traditional style that has been used for 100 years. Huge tuna is caught by a hook attached to a single pole. It sometimes takes a few hours! The biggest tuna ever caught on record weighed 440kg in 1994. Pole fishing is being noticed as a good way to protect sea resources.
